

Lean Six Sigma Training

Online Instructor-Led

Green Belt and Black Belt Training

Commencing March 2023

This training program is for companies that want to dramatically reduce scrap, rework, defects, delays, and other forms of waste in their operations

Make money while you learn!

Training program participants should be assigned a company approved improvement project to work on during and between training sessions. Coaching support is also provided to help trainees complete their improvement project(s).

Savings from completed improvement projects will typically far exceed the cost of this training program!
